1. From the President

Hello members and friends of VALBEC,

Usually at this time of the year the VALBEC comm are busy getting ready for the May conference – naturally we have postponed but we are still getting ready for our online AGM.

I am amazed at the generosity of people at the moment – so many online classes and groups available to the public for free consumption.

VALBEC and Fine Print are also offering a free PDF of the current Fine Print – available on our website here

Stay safe and take care from all of us.

2. Conferences

"All Comers Welcome" 2020 VALBEC Conference
*** NEW Date Announcement - Wednesday, 2nd December
2020

William Angliss Conference Centre

More than ever, how students adjust to the changing circumstances of their learning is a focus for teachers and providers. No doubt, there will be plenty of discoveries to explore and celebrate when things settle down. Perhaps there will be some questions remaining to be answered. Share your and your students' experiences in a workshop, presentation, panel ...

The Call for Papers page remains open until October 30th.

2020 ACAL Conference Announcement

The ACAL 2020 national conference organising committee has observed the cancellation of numerous gatherings around the world, as well as locally, due to concerns about the health impacts of CoVID-19 and have carefully reviewed ACAL's own situation.

As a result we have determined that there WILL NOT be a national conference held this year. It will be only the second time in ACAL's 44-year history that this has occurred – the last being in 1993. Our decision-making has, of necessity, been guided by prioritising everyone's health and well-being.

We are aware of the value placed on the annual conference by delegates and ask for your understanding at this time. While the current situation makes it impossible to have certainty that we would be able to provide a truly safe environment this year, we look forward with anticipation to the 2021 event.

Fine Print was posted to VALBEC members last week. It's a cracker edition, full of thought-provoking ideas and practical advice. We are very aware, however, that many of you read Fine Print in your institution's tearoom or library, and that might not be possible for some time. With this in mind, we have posted an electronic copy of this issue on the VALBEC homepage so you can read it at home.

If you are not currently a VALBEC member and like what you see in Fine Print, please consider becoming a member. You will receive Fine Print in hard copy three times a year – say what you like about the convenience of the internet, there's something special about getting something in the mail – and we depend on VALBEC members to keep Fine Print journal going.

You can download the current edition of Fine Print here:
